Birthday Gift for Jesus

This special offering, to be taken today and next Sabbath, will be used to spread God's word through supporting 1) Adventist World Radio God Pods: prerecorded messages in the target language, battery, solar; for areas without digital Adventist World Radio receivers; solar, hand crank; for areas of the world with signal reception; 2) Bermese refugees in East Atlanta for supplies.

A Christmas tree is in the back of the church for you to place your Christmas offering. Look for the special offering envelopes in the pews for the tree.

You can indicate on your envelope for your contribution to be applied to either the radio or Burmese refugees or both. Offerings not indicating will be split evenly between the two programs. Thank you for your generosity.

The implications of God's presence on the new earth, and the implications for life there, are immense—especially as science has revealed to us, as never before, the size and scope of God's creation. The estimated size of the "visible" universe is many billions of light-years wide; however, scientists now speculate that this immense and vast cosmos represents only about 7 percent of what's actually out there!

And to think: the God who created all that not only died for us but will dwell with us for eternity! At some point, because of the limits of our fallen minds, we have to stop trying to think about this rationally and, instead, fall to our knees and worship and praise the One who not only created us but redeemed us and now promises to live with us for all eternity.
