"Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. He said in a loud voice, 'Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water'"

CREATION AND MORALITY

KEY THOUGHT: What we believe about origins has significant moral implications. Creation morality encourages belief in fixed standards of right and wrong and calls us to use our dominion to serve and protect that over which we have power. Evolution, by contrast, sets a tone of flaunting one's power by exploiting and preying on the weak in order to advance one's self-interest.

"Liberty and the Sabbath"

"Way back in 1890, right at the moment our religious liberty work was mobilizing to counter a huge Sunday movement initiative, some within the church felt embarrassed at how directly the Liberty Sentinel, the immediate precursor to Liberty Magazine, was presenting our [Seventh-day Adventist] truths. They wanted us to go quiet on the Sabbath issue in order to make our work more acceptable to readers. In a vision given to her in Salamanca, New York, Ellen White was told by the angel that the Sentinel was to be the very 'sum and substance of the advocacy of the Sabbath.' 'Unfurl your colors,' she advised.

You can be sure that Liberty Magazine is set to do just that. There is probably no Adventist publication in North America that reaches more non-members with our God-given principles. That is important in these conflict-ridden, uncertain times." - Lincoln Steed, Editor, Liberty Magazine, current edition

Today's offering for North American Division has a focus of Religious Liberty. If you would like to contribute specifically to Religious Liberty, please mark your tithe envelope.

Women's & Teen Girls' Spring Retreat

March 15-17, 2013 @ Cohutta Springs

Registration Deadline 2/28/13

The Bible is a book about God and His relationship to us humans and our world. The events of Creation week are unique and supernatural. They are outside the realm of scientific inquiry for at least two reasons. First, they are singularities. Singularities are events that occur only once. Science has a difficult time dealing with singularities because they cannot be repeated and tested under differing circumstances. Second, the Creation events were supernaturally caused. They were not the natural result of the way that God sustains the Creation; they were special, direct acts of God. Science deals only with secondary causes and does not—at least as now practiced—accept any explanation that depends on God's direct action. Because the Creation events are unique and supernatural, they lie outside of the reach of science.

One's view of origins has important implications for one's view of human nature and self-identity. Understanding our origins is so important that God had it placed as the first subject in the Bible, and the message of the Bible is based on the historicity of the Creation account. To claim that we can learn the true history of our world through science is to claim that it can be explained without appealing to any direct action by God, an error that has led to more error.

"Men will endeavor to explain from natural causes the work of creation, which God has never revealed. But human science cannot search out the secrets of the God of Heaven, and explain the stupendous works of creation, which were a miracle of almighty power, any sooner than it can show how God came into existence."—Ellen G. White, The Spirit of Prophecy, vol. 1, p. 89.
